

|                                                                                        |                                                                     |                                                       |                                                |                                                     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| B                                                                               | I                                                            | N                                              | G                                       | O                                            |
| Someone mentions either Port or Giants will bounce back next year                      | A Katy Perry song plays                                             | A players name is mispronounced                       | Jake Waterman gets 3 votes                     | Coleman Medalist Jesse Hogan gets a vote            |
| A player gets 3 votes in a loss                                                        | Someone mentions Collingwood's premiership hangover                 | Gil gets a completely unjustified mention             | A Richmond player gets 3 votes                 | Rising Star Harley Reid gets a vote                 |
| Someone mentions the 2023 grand final                                                  | A key forward/back gets 3 votes in a game                           | An ineligible player (other than Heeney) gets 3 votes | Anyone with a hyphenated name gets a vote      | Nick Daicos is mentioned as being a young star      |
| Armaguard guy walks in with the secret briefcase while they explain the voting process | JHF gets a vote in a game where it was clearly intended for Bergman | A ruckman gets 3 votes                                | Collingwood win both mark and goal of the year | A player calls a teammate their date                |
| Lachie Neale leads at the conclusion of a round                                        | A player is wearing sunglasses                                      | The round 5 leader falls out of the top 5             | A player skolls their drink when on camera     | A swans player other than Isaac Heeney gets 3 votes |

|                                                                                        |                                                |                                                       |                                                |                                                                     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------|
| B                                                                               | I                                       | N                                              | G                                       | O                                                            |
| Someone mentions the 2023 grand final                                                  | A key forward/back gets 3 votes in a game      | Rising Star Harley Reid gets a vote                   | A Richmond player gets 3 votes                 | A player calls a teammate their date                                |
| A player skolls their drink when on camera                                             | Nick Daicos is mentioned as being a young star | An ineligible player (other than Heeney) gets 3 votes | Coleman Medalist Jesse Hogan gets a vote       | JHF gets a vote in a game where it was clearly intended for Bergman |
| A player gets 3 votes in a loss                                                        | A players name is mispronounced                | Gil gets a completely unjustified mention             | Collingwood win both mark and goal of the year | Someone mentions either Port or Giants will bounce back next year   |
| Armaguard guy walks in with the secret briefcase while they explain the voting process | A player is wearing sunglasses                 | Someone mentions Collingwood's premiership hangover   | A ruckman gets 3 votes                         | Jake Waterman gets 3 votes                                          |
| Lachie Neale leads at the conclusion of a round                                        | The round 5 leader falls out of the top 5      | A swans player other than Isaac Heeney gets 3 votes   | A Katy Perry song plays                        | Anyone with a hyphenated name gets a vote                           |

|                                                                                        |                                                                     |                                           |                                                       |                                                                   |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|
| B                                                                               | I                                                            | N                                  | G                                              | O                                                          |
| Nick Daicos is mentioned as being a young star                                         | Collingwood win both mark and goal of the year                      | A player is wearing sunglasses            | A player skolls their drink when on camera            | A ruckman gets 3 votes                                            |
| A player calls a teammate their date                                                   | A swans player other than Isaac Heeney gets 3 votes                 | A player gets 3 votes in a loss           | An ineligible player (other than Heeney) gets 3 votes | Someone mentions either Port or Giants will bounce back next year |
| Armaguard guy walks in with the secret briefcase while they explain the voting process | Lachie Neale leads at the conclusion of a round                     | Gil gets a completely unjustified mention | A key forward/back gets 3 votes in a game             | Someone mentions Collingwood's premiership hangover               |
| Someone mentions the 2023 grand final                                                  | JHF gets a vote in a game where it was clearly intended for Bergman | The round 5 leader falls out of the top 5 | A Richmond player gets 3 votes                        | A Katy Perry song plays                                           |
| Anyone with a hyphenated name gets a vote                                              | Rising Star Harley Reid gets a vote                                 | Jake Waterman gets 3 votes                | A players name is mispronounced                       | Coleman Medalist Jesse Hogan gets a vote                          |