

|                                            |                                    |                                            |                                        |                                            |
|--------------------------------------------|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| B                                   | I                           | N                                   | G                               | O                                   |
| stormsubsidedand allwas calm   | 100 timesmore thanwas sown | Thedevil                               | in fear andamazement               | do youcan seethe light             |
| Jesus                                      | seven                              | given----taken                     | Chuza                                  | hear andput it intopractice        |
| retain itandproduce agood crop | thornschokedthe plants     | FREE                                | He wasasleep                       | Word ofGod                             |
| chokedby life'sworries             | puts itunder abed          | disclosed---concealed                      | Whereis yourfaith?             | ears---hear                            |
| Thoseon therock                    | Hisdisciples                   | good soil& road &thorns &rocks | trampledand thebirds ateit | MaryMagdalene& Susanna& Joanna |

|                                |                                            |                                            |                                            |                                     |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| B                       | I                                   | N                                   | G                                   | O                            |
| thornschokedthe plants | Chuza                                      | in fear andamazement                   | Jesus                                      | given----taken              |
| Thedevil                   | trampledand thebirds ateit     | do youcan seethe light             | Hisdisciples                           | hear andput it intopractice |
| chokedby life'sworries | He wasasleep                           | FREE                                | Word ofGod                             | 100 timesmore thanwas sown  |
| Whereis yourfaith?     | good soil& road &thorns &rocks | stormsubsidedand allwas calm   | MaryMagdalene& Susanna& Joanna | puts itunder abed           |
| disclosed---concealed          | ears---hear                            | retain itandproduce agood crop | seven                                      | Thoseon therock             |

|                                            |                                            |                          |                                        |                                |
|--------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|--------------------------|----------------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| B                                   | I                                   | N                 | G                               | O                       |
| His disciples                              | good soil& road &thorns &rocks | Chuza                    | ears---hear                        | He wasasleep               |
| stormsubsidedand allwas calm   | chokedby life'sworries             | disclosed---concealed    | seven                                  | do youcan seethe light |
| retain itandproduce agood crop | MaryMagdalene& Susanna& Joanna | FREE              | puts itunder abed              | Whereis yourfaith?     |
| thornschokedthe plants             | hear andput it intopractice        | in fear andamazement | trampledand thebirds ateit | Thedevil                   |
| Word ofGod                             | 100 timesmore thanwas sown         | given----taken   | Jesus                                  | Thoseon therock        |