Take turns reading out a list of positive qualities about each other	Ask a friend how their day is going and listen actively (and patiently)	Find a friend who know what "enthusiastic consent" means	Politely disagree on something and still show respect	Get a friend's autograph
Do a "thank you" chain of 5 students(one student thanks another who thanks another and so on)	Stand silently for 10 seconds to respect personal space	Learn a new thing about someone else's family/culture	Check in with a friend/classmate and ask how they feel	Pay rock paper scissors and cross if you win
Shake hand or hug a friend (ASK FIRST!)	Tell a friend a joke (cross if they laugh)	FREE	Come up with a secret handshake with a partner but only do it if you both agree	Find someone who knows more than 3 languages
Get a friend to say A to L backwards (L K J...etc.)	Role-play a situation where you ask for and give consent	Get a friend to sing a song	Find a strength about yourself from others	Give a thumbs up to someone for doing something kind
Find a friend with a different interest than you	Compliment 4 people	Offer to help someone with a small task (e.g. pick up their book)	Work together to define "consent" in one sentence with a friend	Find a friend who belongs to a different state
