

B	I	N	G	O
When you think about your childhood what do you miss the most?	1Why do people like talking about their childhood memories?	Talk about a person you admire and give extra information about them.	What is one place that is strongly connected to your childhood and why?	What childhood habit have you stopped or kept until now?
How has your personality changed since you were a child?	What recent news story has caught your attention and why?	What games or activities were popular when you were a child?	Describe a place you like and add one more interesting fact about it.	What is one childhood memory that still makes you smile?
What kind of news do people your age usually talk about?	Who had the biggest influence on you during your childhood?	FREE	How did people around you react to that news?	Tell me something you know about a topic and then add another related detail.
What activity did you enjoy most when you were a child?	What is something people often say about your generation?	What advice have you received that you still remember?	Tell me about something interesting someone once told you.	What did a teacher or parent often say to you when you were younger?
Tell me about a comment that changed the way you think.	How does following the news affect the way people think or act?	What is an activity you enjoy and what else can you say about it?	Why do you think some news spreads faster than others?	How was your daily routine different when you were a child?

B	I	N	G	O
Who had the biggest influence on you during your childhood?	Describe a place you like and add one more interesting fact about it.	What is one place that is strongly connected to your childhood and why?	How has your personality changed since you were a child?	What games or activities were popular when you were a child?
Talk about a person you admire and give extra information about them.	Why do you think some news spreads faster than others?	What childhood habit have you stopped or kept until now?	How does following the news affect the way people think or act?	What is one childhood memory that still makes you smile?
What activity did you enjoy most when you were a child?	How did people around you react to that news?	FREE	Tell me something you know about a topic and then add another related detail.	1Why do people like talking about their childhood memories?
Tell me about something interesting someone once told you.	What is an activity you enjoy and what else can you say about it?	When you think about your childhood what do you miss the most?	How was your daily routine different when you were a child?	What is something people often say about your generation?
What advice have you received that you still remember?	What did a teacher or parent often say to you when you were younger?	What kind of news do people your age usually talk about?	What recent news story has caught your attention and why?	Tell me about a comment that changed the way you think.

B	I	N	G	O
How does following the news affect the way people think or act?	What is an activity you enjoy and what else can you say about it?	Describe a place you like and add one more interesting fact about it.	What did a teacher or parent often say to you when you were younger?	How did people around you react to that news?
When you think about your childhood what do you miss the most?	What activity did you enjoy most when you were a child?	What advice have you received that you still remember?	What recent news story has caught your attention and why?	What childhood habit have you stopped or kept until now?
What kind of news do people your age usually talk about?	How was your daily routine different when you were a child?	FREE	What is something people often say about your generation?	Tell me about something interesting someone once told you.
Who had the biggest influence on you during your childhood?	What is one childhood memory that still makes you smile?	What is one place that is strongly connected to your childhood and why?	Why do you think some news spreads faster than others?	Talk about a person you admire and give extra information about them.
Tell me something you know about a topic and then add another related detail.	1Why do people like talking about their childhood memories?	What games or activities were popular when you were a child?	How has your personality changed since you were a child?	Tell me about a comment that changed the way you think.