

| B                                                    | I                               | N                             | G                  | O                          |
|-------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|---------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| shares a hobby (besides mer life) with you - crafting twin! | can hold breath more than 1min         | brought a re-useable drinking vessel | has a land pet            | has swam in an aquarium           |
| has made their own costume piece                            | has a black tail                       | owns a Finfolk Tail                  | has more than 3 tails     | does NOT have a tail              |
| has the same tail as you/tail twin!                         | speaks more than 1 language            | FREE                          | doesn't like seafood      | has been a mermaid for a birthday |
| is on the 2026 CORE Team                                    | has been to a MerCon on the West coast | has swam in the Great Lakes          | has been to all 3 MNMC's  | has swam in a spring              |
| has swam in a tank                                          | has a water pet                        | has a silicone top                   | has more than 1 mer crown | has a silicone tail               |

|                           |                          |                           |                                        |                                        |
|---------------------------|--------------------------|---------------------------|----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| B                  | I                 | N                  | G                               | O                               |
| has NOT swam in the ocean | has a PADI certification | has more than 10 tails    | has made their own costume piece       | has made their own Mer Accessory       |
| doesn't like seafood      | is on the 2026 CORE Team | has swam in both oceans   | has been a mermaid for a birthday      | has been to a MerCon on the East coast |
| owns a Finfock Tail       | does NOT have a tail     | FREE               | speaks more than 1 language            | can hold breath more than 1min         |
| has more than 3 tails     | has swam in an aquarium  | has more than 1 mer crown | has been to a MerCon on the West coast | has a blue tail                        |
| has a land pet            | has swam in a spring     | has swam in a tank        | has more than 5 tails                  | has swam in the ocean                  |

|                                  |                                  |                                |                                                             |                                     |
|----------------------------------|----------------------------------|--------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| B                         | I                         | N                       | G                                                    | O                            |
| has NOT swam in the ocean        | has a YouTube channel            | has swam in a spring           | has made their own costume piece                            | has a black tail                    |
| has swam in a tank               | has more than 1 mer crown        | can hold breath more than 1min | has been a mermaid for a birthday                           | brought a re-useable drinking vesel |
| has made their own Mer Accessory | has more than 10 tails           | FREE                    | shares a hobby (besides mer life) with you - crafting twin! | has a PADI certification            |
| this is their first year at MNMC | they prefer to swim with goggles | has a blue tail                | doesn't like seafood                                        | has swam in both oceans             |
| has more than 3 tails            | has a green tail                 | speaks more than 1 language    | does NOT have a tail                                        | has swam in an aquarium             |