"I'm feeling fine today" after reporting every symptom imaginable	Realizing your next patient is 35 minutes away with rush-hour traffic	Getting lost in apartment complex	Signature takes longer than the entire visit	Patient says "My doctor never told me that"
Family member appears halfway through with "I have a few questions..."	Wi-Fi/cell service disappears exactly when charting	Patient thinks of lots to talk about following signing tablet at end of visit	Can you come after 6 PM?"	Trying to explain Medicare coverage for the 47th time
"I've been doing therapy exercises" (clearly untouched handout)	Dog barks the entire visit	FREE SPACE	Patient pulls out a completely different med list than what's in the chart	Patient says they "don't use assistive devices" while holding a walker
The recliner becomes the official assessment station	Patient says "I'm not home" while clearly answering from home	Patient weighs themselves with shoes jacket and purse on	Offered food you politely can't refuse	Patient starts telling their entire life story when calling to schedule
Family member answers every question for the patient	Surprise cat jumps onto your paperwork	Finding the TV volume somehow set to maximum	"No medication changes" ... followed by 5 new bottles on the counter	Getting lost in a neighborhood with identical houses
