

|                                                             |                                                                      |                                                                         |                                                                                   |                                                                              |
|-------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| B                                                    | I                                                             | N                                                                | G                                                                          | O                                                                     |
| youlaughtogether                                    | "have youheard about_____?" inreference toa relative | henri shrugshisshoulders inanswer to aquestion          | the groupaccidentallysplits into kidand adulttables for ameal | someonecries                                                             |
| chloe getsworriedabout ifeveryone ishelping | youexperiencesomethingwonderful                          | someonelights it up andplays it off likenothinghappened | "so whatare ourplans?"                                                    | somethingunexpectedhappens                                           |
| youexperience amoment ofcalm innature       | youreceiveunsolicitedadvice                              | FREE                                                             | anthonytalksaboutcars                                                 | marthamakes amess anddoesn'tclean it up                      |
| mentionof apreviousvacation                     | weather ismentioned3x in oneday                          | someonecomplains                                                    | kip goesto bedearly                                                       | someonegets drunkwayyy beforeeveryoneelse                    |
| katieworksout                                       | carolinewearshenri'sshirt                                | someonemakes anunpromptedcommentabout their diet        | you witnesssomeonestorm off orstay in theirroom                   | christa repeatsher anxietyabouteveryonehaving a goodtime |

|                                                    |                                                      |                                                                    |                                                               |                                                             |
|----------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|
| B                                           | I                                             | N                                                           | G                                                      | O                                                    |
| you receive unsolicited advice                     | "so what are our plans?"                             | the group accidentally splits into kid and adult tables for a meal | chloe gets worried about if everyone is helping               | someone lights it up and plays it off like nothing happened |
| henri shrugs his shoulders in answer to a question | you witness someone storm off or stay in their room  | someone cries                                                      | caroline wears henri's shirt                                  | something unexpected happens                                |
| mention of a previous vacation                     | anthony talks about cars                             | FREE                                                        | martha makes a mess and doesn't clean it up                   | "have you heard about _____?" in reference to a relative    |
| kip goes to bed early                              | someone makes an unprompted comment about their diet | you laugh together                                                 | christa repeats her anxiety about everyone having a good time | weather is mentioned 3x in one day                          |
| someone complains                                  | someone gets drunk wayyy before everyone else        | you experience a moment of calm in nature                          | you experience something wonderful                            | katie works out                                             |

|                                             |                                                               |                                                                    |                                                     |                                                    |
|---------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|
| B                                    | I                                                      | N                                                           | G                                            | O                                           |
| caroline wears henri's shirt                | someone makes an unprompted comment about their diet          | "so what are our plans?"                                           | someone gets drunk wayyy before everyone else       | anthony talks about cars                           |
| you laugh together                          | mention of a previous vacation                                | someone complains                                                  | you experience something wonderful                  | someone cries                                      |
| you experience a moment of calm in nature   | christa repeats her anxiety about everyone having a good time | FREE                                                        | weather is mentioned 3x in one day                  | kip goes to bed early                              |
| you receive unsolicited advice              | something unexpected happens                                  | the group accidentally splits into kid and adult tables for a meal | you witness someone storm off or stay in their room | henri shrugs his shoulders in answer to a question |
| martha makes a mess and doesn't clean it up | "have you heard about _____?" in reference to a relative      | someone lights it up and plays it off like nothing happened        | chloe gets worried about if everyone is helping     | katie works out                                    |