

|                              |                                            |                           |                     |                                       |
|------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|---------------------------|---------------------|---------------------------------------|
| B                     | I                                   | N                  | G            | O                              |
| Use a little elbow grease    | Alliteration                               | His head is in the clouds | The cow sang a song | Onomatopoeia                          |
| He would be grounded forever | Tim takes time to teach                    | Personification           | Bang!               | Swoosh!                               |
| The wind whispered           | Zoom!                                      | FREE               | He lost his marbles | Lynn felt like a fish out of water    |
| Matt makes marbles on Monday | The loud music made my ears scream in pain | My shoes said hello       | Idiom               | Pam purchased paper plates            |
| Hyperbole                    | He was fast as a cheetah                   | Sam sells seashells       | the cow sang a song | His brother weighed a thousand pounds |

|                              |                            |                           |                                       |                                            |
|------------------------------|----------------------------|---------------------------|---------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| B                     | I                   | N                  | G                              | O                                   |
| Zoom!                        | Bang!                      | The cow sang a song       | He would be grounded forever          | Personification                            |
| His head is in the clouds    | the cow sang a song        | Onomatopoeia              | He was fast as a cheetah              | Swoosh!                                    |
| Matt makes marbles on Monday | He lost his marbles        | FREE               | Lynn felt like a fish out of water    | Alliteration                               |
| Idiom                        | Sam sells seashells        | Use a little elbow grease | His brother weighed a thousand pounds | The loud music made my ears scream in pain |
| My shoes said hello          | Pam purchased paper plates | The wind whispered        | Tim takes time to teach               | Hyperbole                                  |

|                                    |                                       |                     |                                            |                           |
|------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|---------------------|--------------------------------------------|---------------------------|
| B                           | I                              | N            | G                                   | O                  |
| He was fast as a cheetah           | Sam sells seashells                   | Bang!               | Pam purchased paper plates                 | He lost his marbles       |
| Use a little elbow grease          | Matt makes marbles on Monday          | My shoes said hello | Tim takes time to teach                    | Onomatopoeia              |
| The wind whispered                 | His brother weighed a thousand pounds | FREE         | The loud music made my ears scream in pain | Idiom                     |
| Zoom!                              | Swoosh!                               | The cow sang a song | the cow sang a song                        | His head is in the clouds |
| Lynn felt like a fish out of water | Alliteration                          | Personification     | He would be grounded forever               | Hyperbole                 |