

Western Great Revival	"The Last Will and Testament of the Springfield Presbytery"	Built in 1791	Stone-Campbell movement	In 1934 it was recognized by the US Dept. of the Interior as a building of national significance
Barton Warren Stone (1772-1844)	The Revival of August 1801	Movement seeking unity among Christians along non-sectarian lines	20 000 to 30 000	Scots-Irish Presbyterians from North Carolina
The Cane Ridge Shrine Inc.	blue ash logs	FREE	A golden limestone superstructure	Disciples of Christ of the Cane Ridge Preservation Project
Historic American Buildings Survey	Symbol of the late 18th and early 19th Century Western Great Revival	In 1921 the declining congregation disbanded	Christians	Largest one-room log structure standing in North America
Cane Ridge Christian Church	Alexander Campbell	Presbyterian	oak and chestnut trees	Bourbon County Kentucky

blue ash logs	20 000 to 30 000	Stone-Campbell movement	Barton Warren Stone (1772-1844)	Movement seeking unity among Christians along non-sectarian lines
Built in 1791	oak and chestnut trees	In 1934 it was recognized by the US Dept. of the Interior as a building of national significance	Alexander Campbell	Scots-Irish Presbyterians from North Carolina
Historic American Buildings Survey	A golden limestone superstructure	FREE	Disciples of Christ of the Cane Ridge Preservation Project	"The Last Will and Testament of the Springfield Presbytery"
Christians	Presbyterian	Western Great Revival	Bourbon County Kentucky	Symbol of the late 18th and early 19th Century Western Great Revival
In 1921 the declining congregation disbanded	Largest one-room log structure standing in North America	The Cane Ridge Shrine Inc.	The Revival of August 1801	Cane Ridge Christian Church

Alexander Campbell	Presbyterian	20 000 to 30 000	Largest one-room log structure standing in North America	A golden limestone superstructure
Western Great Revival	Historic American Buildings Survey	In 1921 the declining congregation disbanded	The Revival of August 1801	In 1934 it was recognized by the US Dept. of the Interior as a building of national significance
The Cane Ridge Shrine Inc.	Bourbon County Kentucky	FREE	Symbol of the late 18th and early 19th Century Western Great Revival	Christians
blue ash logs	Scots-Irish Presbyterians from North Carolina	Stone-Campbell movement	oak and chestnut trees	Built in 1791
Disciples of Christ of the Cane Ridge Preservation Project	"The Last Will and Testament of the Springfield Presbytery"	Movement seeking unity among Christians along non-sectarian lines	Barton Warren Stone (1772-1844)	Cane Ridge Christian Church