

B	I	N	G	O
You are so confused you don't know what AYE or NAY means relative to the article	"This isn't {insert location} that won't work here"	Mention of national politics	Seemingly innocuous article in warning resunts in 45 minute debate	Person next to you has brought very noisily wrapped/smelly/cruncy food
Inside joke between moderator and person making comment	Virtues of democracy extoled	Reminder of Robert's Rules	Citizen points out clerical error in value less than $1.00	Someone uses the phrase 'slippery slope'
Crowd corrects moderator who is out of order	Quiet speaker says "I don't need the mic."	FREE	Napping	Speaker too far from mic
Napping	Someone makes a friendly ammendment	Person commenting includes number of years in residence as if to lend more credibility to opinion	Screaming Child	Moderator calls someone out of order
Minority opinion; anticipating being the minority during voice vote say AYE/NAY in LOUD voice	Problem with mic; someone under the age of 15 fixes it	Doughnuts	Impassioned speech relying on emotion to sway favorable response	Someone comments on article already passed; quickly and loudly corrected by crowd

B	I	N	G	O
Mud Boots	Crowd corrects moderator who is out of order	Napping	Virtues of democracy extoled	Citizen points out clerical error in value less than $1.00
You are so confused you don't know what AYE or NAY means relative to the article	Speaker too far from mic	Quiet speaker says "I don't need the mic."	Seemingly innocuous article in warning resunts in 45 minute debate	Problem with mic; someone under the age of 15 fixes it
Napping	Person next to you has brought very noisily wrapped/smelly/cruncky food	FREE	Inside joke between moderator and person making comment	Mention of national politics
Reminder of Robert's Rules	You say AYE without realizing what you're voting on	Someone comments on article already passed; quickly and loudly corrected by crowd	Someone makes a friendly ammendment	Doughnuts
Impassioned speech relying on emotion to sway favorable response	Screaming Child	"This isn't {insert location} that won't work here"	Person commenting includes number of years in residence as if to lend more credibility to opinion	You say NAY without realizing what you're voting on

B	I	N	G	O
You say AYE without realizing what you're voting on	Knitting	Crowd corrects moderator who is out of order	Someone comments on article already passed; quickly and loudly corrected by crowd	Inside joke between moderator and person making comment
Quiet speaker says "I don't need the mic."	Malcontent grumbling from minority opinion in back of auditorium	You say NAY without realizing what you're voting on	Citizen points out clerical error in value less than $1.00	You are so confused you don't know what AYE or NAY means relative to the article
Person commenting includes number of years in residence as if to lend more credibility to opinion	Impassioned speech relying on emotion to sway favorable response	FREE	Seemingly innocuous article in warning results in 45 minute debate	Napping
Mention of national politics	Mud Boots	"This isn't {insert location} that won't work here"	Minority opinion; anticipating being the minority during voice vote say AYE/NAY in LOUD voice	Problem with mic; someone under the age of 15 fixes it
Screaming Child	Virtues of democracy extoled	Someone makes a friendly ammendment	Napping	Someone uses the phrase 'slippery slope'