

|                              |                                           |                     |                                          |                                                     |
|------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|---------------------|------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|
| B                     | I                                  | N            | G                                 | O                                            |
| Use of a prop                | A child under five has a meltdown         | Admission of nerves | Someone explains why their joke is funny | Marriage advice for the newlyweds                   |
| A joke falls completely flat | To make a long story short                | Rhyming verse       | A famous quote                           | The speechgiver is unable to read their own writing |
| Wine spillage                | A guest heckles                           | How lucky I am      | I'm going to keep this short             | The speechgiver is crying                           |
| Intentional innuendo         | Someone bursts into song                  | Celebrity namedrop  | Pop culture reference                    | A how-we-met story                                  |
| Thank you                    | A reference to how gorgeous someone looks | You're crying       | Accidental innuendo                      | Cringeworthy childhood story                        |

|                              |                                           |                                                     |                                   |                                          |
|------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| B                     | I                                  | N                                            | G                          | O                                 |
| Wine spillage                | A guest heckles                           | The speechgiver is unable to read their own writing | A famous quote                    | A how-we-met story                       |
| Accidental innuendo          | The speechgiver is crying                 | How lucky I am                                      | Marriage advice for the newlyweds | Someone bursts into song                 |
| A joke falls completely flat | Admission of nerves                       | Rhyming verse                                       | Pop culture reference             | Use of a prop                            |
| Intentional innuendo         | A reference to how gorgeous someone looks | To make a long story short                          | Celebrity namedrop                | Someone explains why their joke is funny |
| Thank you                    | You're crying                             | Cringeworthy childhood story                        | A child under five has a meltdown | I'm going to keep this short             |

|                              |                                                     |                                           |                     |                                   |
|------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|---------------------|-----------------------------------|
| B                     | I                                            | N                                  | G            | O                          |
| The speechgiver is crying    | Pop culture reference                               | A reference to how gorgeous someone looks | Accidental innuendo | Celebrity namedrop                |
| A how-we-met story           | Cringeworthy childhood story                        | A joke falls completely flat              | How lucky I am      | Use of a prop                     |
| Intentional innuendo         | Thank you                                           | Rhyming verse                             | A guest heckles     | To make a long story short        |
| Wine spillage                | Someone bursts into song                            | You're crying                             | A famous quote      | A child under five has a meltdown |
| I'm going to keep this short | The speechgiver is unable to read their own writing | Someone explains why their joke is funny  | Admission of nerves | Marriage advice for the newlyweds |