

|                                                                      |                                                                                             |                                                                                                            |                                                                                                  |                                                                                                   |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| B                                                             | I                                                                                    | N                                                                                                   | G                                                                                         | O                                                                                          |
| The person who draws the pictures.(illustrator)                      | A book about a person's life. (biography)                                                   | A reference book with information on many different subjects.(encyclopedia)                                | The name of the book. (title)                                                                    | Section of the library with picture books. (easy)                                                 |
| A list of chapter in a book and the page numbers. (table of content) | The page that shows the title author illustrator and publisher. (Title Page)                | The date a book is published which gives the company sole ownership of a book. (copyright)                 | A book of words with pronunciations definitions and parts of speech.(dictionary)                 | The page on which the author gives appreciation to those who supported him/her. (dedication page) |
| The person who writes the book. (author)                             | A book with a made-up story. (fiction)                                                      | FREE                                                                                                | The company who makes the book.(publisher)                                                       | Award given for best illustrations for picture books. (caldecott)                                 |
| A book with synonyms and antonyms. (thesaurus)                       | Famous librarian who created the call number system for non-fiction books. (Melville Dewey) | The name of the online computer catalog system. (OPAC)                                                     | List of books and other sources used for information in a book or research paper. (bibliography) | The little dictionary at the end of a book. (glossary)                                            |
| The number used in a library to locate a book. (call number)         | Another name for the library. (media center)                                                | An alphabetical list of topics or subjects in a book and the page numbers on which it can be found.(index) | The award given for a book with great story. (Newberry)                                          | A book with facts and true information. (nonfiction)                                              |

|                                                                             |                                                                                            |                                                                                             |                                                                                                   |                                                                                                            |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| B                                                                    | I                                                                                   | N                                                                                    | G                                                                                          | O                                                                                                   |
| The company who makes the book.(publisher)                                  | Section of the library with picture books. (easy)                                          | A book with a made-up story. (fiction)                                                      | The page on which the author gives appreciation to those who supported him/her. (dedication page) | A book with facts and true information. (nonfiction)                                                       |
| The name of the online computer catalog system. (OPAC)                      | Award given for best illustrations for picture books. (caldecott)                          | Famous librarian who created the call number system for non-fiction books. (Melville Dewey) | The page that shows the title author illustrator and publisher. (Title Page)                      | A book of words with pronunciations definitions and parts of speech.(dictionary)                           |
| The person who writes the book. (author)                                    | The name of the book. (title)                                                              | FREE                                                                                 | The award given for a book with great story. (Newberry)                                           | A list of chapter in a book and the page numbers. (table of content)                                       |
| A reference book with information on many different subjects.(encyclopedia) | The date a book is published which gives the company sole ownership of a book. (copyright) | The number used in a library to locate a book. (call number)                                | A book with synonyms and antonyms. (thesaurus)                                                    | The little dictionary at the end of a book. (glossary)                                                     |
| A book about a person's life. (biography)                                   | The person who draws the pictures.(illustrator)                                            | The section of the library with books that cannot be checked out. (reference)               | A reference book of facts trivia lists statistics and charts.(Almanac)                            | An alphabetical list of topics or subjects in a book and the page numbers on which it can be found.(index) |

|                                                                                                   |                                                                               |                                                                                                            |                                                                                                  |                                                                                  |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| B                                                                                          | I                                                                      | N                                                                                                   | G                                                                                         | O                                                                         |
| The company who makes the book.(publisher)                                                        | A list of chapter in a book and the page numbers. (table of content)          | The little dictionary at the end of a book. (glossary)                                                     | A reference book of facts trivia lists statistics and charts.(Almanac)                           | A book of words with pronunciations definitions and parts of speech.(dictionary) |
| A book about a person's life. (biography)                                                         | The section of the library with books that cannot be checked out. (reference) | A reference book with information on many different subjects.(encyclopedia)                                | The person who writes the book. (author)                                                         | A book with synonyms and antonyms. (thesaurus)                                   |
| The page that shows the title author illustrator and publisher. (Title Page)                      | The number used in a library to locate a book. (call number)                  | FREE                                                                                                | List of books and other sources used for information in a book or research paper. (bibliography) | The name of the book. (title)                                                    |
| A book with facts and true information. (nonfiction)                                              | The award given for a book with great story. (Newberry)                       | Famous librarian who created the call number system for non-fiction books. (Melville Dewey)                | Award given for best illustrations for picture books. (caldecott)                                | A book with a made-up story. (fiction)                                           |
| The page on which the author gives appreciation to those who supported him/her. (dedication page) | Section of the library with picture books. (easy)                             | An alphabetical list of topics or subjects in a book and the page numbers on which it can be found.(index) | The date a book is published which gives the company sole ownership of a book. (copyright)       | The person who draws the pictures.(illustrator)                                  |