

utilized planner/to-do list	Put a DND on teams while doing personal work at home/Power nap	got dressed formally for a whole working day	shocked by own appearance on video chat	pretending to be on mute because you have no idea what's asked forgot to turn of text notification while screen sharing	tried out new hobby during WFH	setting up log off time and sticking to it for a week	avoided a meeting giving connection issue excuse	took a break to play online game with teammate was sure about bonus and increment amount and it was right	avoided a scheduled meeting to finish the office gossip	never googled hack to be always available on teams	never initiated small talk in wait time	spent a working day without saying am i audible /is my screen visible never spilled food on laptop	shared wrong screen accidentally	logged in before 9 for 3 days in a row	said "i have to join another call" just to get over with current call	family member/pet never barged in any office call speaking in a meeting while my mouth is full	getting horrifying dreams of office reopening	woke up with a status call	gone to vacation turned into workcation	missed cafeteria

was sure about bonus and increment amount and it was right	avoided a scheduled meeting to finish the office gossip	took a break to play online game with teammate	avoided a meeting giving connection issue excuse	family member/pet never barged in any office call gone to vacation turned into workcation	spent a working day without saying am i audible /is my screen visible	never googled hack to be always available on teams	pretending to be on mute because you have no idea what's asked	shared wrong screen accidentally forgot to turn of text notification while screen sharing	got dressed formally for a whole working day	setting up log off time and sticking to it for a week	said "i have to join another call" just to get over with current call	utilized planner/to-do list never spilled food on laptop	getting horrifying dreams of office reopening	tried out new hobby during WFH	logged in before 9 for 3 days in a row	shocked by own appearance on video chat speaking in a meeting while my mouth is full	woke up with a status call	missed cafeteria	Put a DND on teams while doing personal work at home/Power nap	never initiated small talk in wait time spent a working day without saying am i audible /is my screen visible	said "i have to join another call" just to get over with current call	getting horrifying dreams of office reopening	gone to vacation turned into workcation	logged in before 9 for 3 days in a row family member/pet never barged in any office call	missed cafeteria	forgot to turn of text notification while screen sharing	never googled hack to be always available on teams	utilized planner/to-do list never spilled food on laptop	speaking in a meeting while my mouth is full	setting up log off time and sticking to it for a week	avoided a scheduled meeting to finish the office gossip	tried out new hobby during WFH was sure about bonus and increment amount and it was right	shared wrong screen accidentally	woke up with a status call	avoided a meeting giving connection issue excuse	Put a DND on teams while doing personal work at home/Power nap never initiated small talk in wait time	took a break to play online game with teammate	shocked by own appearance on video chat	got dressed formally for a whole working day	pretending to be on mute because you have no idea what's asked